HEADQUARTERS FOR THE
UNITED STATES,
AT THE
PUBLISHING HOUSE OF
G. G. EVANS,
439 CHESTNUT STREET,
PHILADELPHIA, PA.
CATALOGUES SENT FREE

SINCE I originated the Gift Book Enterprise, I have repeatedly called the attention of the public to my large stock and liberal offers, to which they have always warmly responded. I can now, with more satisfaction than ever, call attention to my largely increased inducements to purchasers. Being very heavily engaged in publishing, I exchange my own publications for those of other houses, and am enabled to procure all my books at the original cost of making, and thus can do supply the majority of the other houses engaged in the Gift Book trade, with their books, cheaper than they can procure them from other publishers. I can also, by my heavy purchases of Watches and Jewelry, furnish them with their Gifts at lower rates than they can buy them from the manufacturers.
Having such an advantage in buying, I can induce my customers better Gifts with their books than any other house, and can give my Agents a larger commission. A valuable Gift will be delivered with each book at the time of sale. Gifts worth $2.00, at lowest wholesale price, will be impartially distributed with every $10.00 worth of Books sold.
Send for a Catalogue, which will be mailed free to any address, containing the most valuable collection of Standard productions in Literature, Philosophy, History, Geography, Travel, and Science, with all the favorite works of Fiction and Romance, and every other department of Literature, classified as described below. Send for it, for if you don't wish to order Books, you will obtain a very valuable Book for reference, as it contains all the desirable books in print, and will cost you nothing.
Particular attention is requested to the List of my Publications, which will be found in the latter part of my Classified Catalogue. It contains a large number of deservedly popular works, by various authors; among which are all of T. S. Arthur's best works, well known as a moral, instructive and pleasing author. Interesting biographies, travels, &c.

Special Notice to Book Buyers.
As there are parties of doubtful responsibility advertising gift concerns, and some are making many large promises, under fictitious names, without the intention or ability to fulfill them, hoping, through the credulity of our enterprise, to deceive and plunder the public, a strict sense of duty compels me to warn all against them. And if any are deceived and cheated by them, they should not be so unjust as to condemn me along with them, for they are base imitators of an enterprise that has cost me an immense amount of time and money to place in the position which it now occupies, recommending an extensive and increasing trade, approved and indorsed, with the most entire freedom and confidence, by the leading Publishing Houses in the Union, whose advices of approval and indorsement are in no possession, and will be produced, and shown at any time with the greatest pleasure.

Spring Bed for Sale in Frankfort.
GOULD'S PATENT. This is an entirely new application of spiral springs to beds, making decidedly the most comfortable, neat, and cheap spring bed ever offered for sale, adjusted to every description of bedstead. We believe it entirely useless to go into detail relative to the advantages of this bed, having entire confidence in its durability and adaptation to the wants of the people. We offer to attach it to any bedstead, submit it to trial, to the satisfaction of any person, at the extraordinary low price of $4.50, and if after trial it proves unsatisfactory, take it away, refund the money, and replace old bottom as we found it.

The Vote of Kentucky.

All the counties have made returns to the Secretary of State except Letcher and Edmonson, and from both of these we have reliable reports. If we have made no mistakes in a careful addition of the votes, or in copying the returns in the Secretary's office, the total vote of the State between the candidates for Governor in the late election is 144,072, and Magoffin's majority is 9,182. We do not think that the official declaration of the vote when made will vary much from these figures. We give a statement of the complete vote of the State, divided into Congressional districts:

	Bell	Magoffin
1.	5704	9845
2.	7112	7443
3.	6523	7024
4.	7206	7206
5.	5476	7793
6.	7352	7818
7.	6563	5589
8.	6907	6909
9.	8172	8357
10.	5930	9145
	67445	67445

The largest vote heretofore obtained by any Democratic candidate in Kentucky was Buchanan's in 1856, which, including the counties rejected for informality in returns, amounted to 74,857—and the largest majority obtained by any Democratic candidate of late years was Revill's, last year, 13, 095.

Joshua F. Bell—the great Joshua—that was going to "tear things loose"—loses on Morehead's vote 2,371, while Magoffin gains on Clarke 11,214. Bell's vote is less than Fillmore's, while Magoffin's is much larger than Buchanan's. The figures prove conclusively that Kentucky is democratic all over, and likely to remain so forever. The Democracy have gained constantly since 1855, and in the late election polled more votes than any party ever obtained before in this State. Know-Nothingism, Patent Americanism, Oppositionism, Black Republicanism, and all other isms, are vanquished never to raise head again here.

The Fourth District.

The official returns from the counties of this district, as made at first to the office of the Secretary of State, gave Anderson a majority of 3 over Chrisman. In the last few days a mistake of 13 votes in favor of Chrisman has been discovered upon the returns from Cumberland county, and the Secretary has been notified of the fact. We are permitted to use a copy of a letter from the State Senator elect from the Cumberland district, who resides in the county, in reference to this error, as follows:

BURKSVILLE, Aug. 12, 1859.

DEAR SIR: I this morning examined closely the poll books of this county in the race for Congress, and find that the examining board here corrected all mistakes in the summing up of the votes against Anderson, there being a mistake of two votes on the poll book at town and none elsewhere, while they failed to correct the mistakes against Chrisman. There is a mistake on the Kettle Creek poll book of 10 votes, made in this way: Chrisman's vote was 56; the next vote recorded for him was put down at 47, and this error was kept up to the end. There is a mistake of 2 votes against him at town and one at Marrowbone, making 13 in all, and never corrected. Anderson's majority in this county is 270, with the books corrected, and upon this you may rely—Anderson's vote in the county being 650, and Chrisman's 380.

You may rely upon what I have written you. I have showed the mistake to Anderson's friends here, and they surrender it. Your friend, S. H. BOLES.

This palpable error in the Cumberland returns settles the election clearly in favor of Chrisman, and when the day appointed by law arrives for issuing certificates, the board will have to give Mr. Chrisman his credentials of election. An attempt to defraud him of an office to which he was fairly elected will not be tolerated by the people of his district nor of the State, and Mr. Anderson, if he is the man he is represented to be, will submit gracefully to the popular verdict, whatever it may turn out to be.

The Legislature.

We publish in another column a full and corrected list of the members of the Legislature. The Democracy have a majority of 28 upon joint ballot—a gain of six over the last Legislature. The following is the division of parties in the two branches:

	SENATE.
Democrats	24
Opposition	14
Democratic majority	10
	HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.
Democrats	59
Opposition	41
Democratic majority	18

Stout, Democrat, is elected to Congress from Oregon by forty-five majority. This is official.

Hon. Beriah Magoffin, Governor elect, was in Frankfort yesterday. He has received at the hands of the people the greatest compliment ever paid to any man in Kentucky, and wears his honors worthily. We predict for him a successful and popular administration.

The Lima (Ohio) Democrat has an article expressing its preference for Vice-President Breckinridge as the next Democratic Presidential candidate. It thinks the nomination ought to go to the South, both as a matter of justice and policy.

[Correspondence of the Yeoman.]
LOUISVILLE, August 4th, 1859.

EDITOR YEOMAN:

While I am not going to write you any particular news, yet I can't refrain from expressing my own enthusiasm, together with the gratitude of every Democrat of this almost God-forsaken and dark spot, (that is left to blacken and mar the bright and glorious escutcheon of the proud old State of Kentucky,) that the People of the State, whose mighty voice, in thunder tones, did, on last Monday, administer so fitting a rebuke to the vile and corrupt clique of office-holders in this city; who, by a violation of all decency, law, and order, even disgusted and made sick many of the better men who voted the Opposition ticket, who saw the open corruption and high-handed violence practiced at nearly every voting precinct in the city. Boys from seventeen years old up were voted by the vile clan that defiantly controlled the polls all day, and who, by threats of violence and promises of future favors, controlled nearly the whole foreign vote of this city, as well as voted many persons who were induced to come over here from New Albany to help carry the city by a large majority, knowing full well that such a course was their only hope of defeating our gallant Holt, who would have easily beaten Mallory had we had a fair and unimpeded expression of our voters at the ballot-box.

The same, or even worse scenes of violence and threats, were practiced at all, or nearly all the voting precincts in the county by the outlaws and cut-throat bullies who were used by the Opposition to defeat our high-toned, gallant, and distinguished Gov. Meriwether and Sam'l Geiger, who took their lives in their hands and boldly determined to put down the assassins that made a most determined effort to rob the people of their right of franchise. There is one precinct in the county that deserves everlasting praise and gratitude for their noble and patriotic efforts in coming up to the rescue, thereby saving the defeat of Messrs. M. and G. I allude to that noble band of Democrats in Hays' precinct. All honor is due to their gallant services.

Two much praise cannot be awarded to that glorious band of "Butcher Boys," who so faithfully guarded the polls at the Butcher town precinct, keeping down bloodshed and violence, thereby securing the election of Jos. Croxton, Esq., to the Legislature by a small majority, but who ought to have been elected by 400 or 500; and yet the Louisville Journal talks about the contesting of the election of Meriwether and Geiger and that of your glorious and gallant Simms in the Ashland District. Oh! what a beautiful party Prentice has got to talk about contesting elections, and accusing Democrats of corruption at the ballot-box, and of fraud in administering the offices of the General Government! Shame on such expressions, coming from a party whose history is the most vile, corrupt, and abusive of any party that ever had a name in this country.

Glorious and cheering news is hourly reaching us from all parts of the State, all of which indicates large gains for both branches of the Legislature, which will secure to us a United States Senator in the place of John J. Crittenden, who has long enough misrepresented the people of this thoroughly Democratic State.

No news as yet received from any portion of the State has awakened such wild and unrestrained bursts of enthusiasm in the heart of every Democrat in this city, (who has at heart the good of his party,) as that which heralded forth the glorious triumph of Capt. Wm. E. Simms over Gen. John M. Harlan, and the combined hosts of the Opposition in the Ashland District, with Garrett Davis as the "head and front" of a bitter enemy. Such a victory is truly grand and sublime, and Capt. Simms will wear the honors so nobly bestowed upon him with as much grace, and honor to himself and his constituency, as any man in the State.

Next came the cheering news of an overwhelming victory that had perched upon the head of that young, ardent, and talented John Young Brown, of the Fifth District, who has come out of the contest with Jewett with flying colors, and won for himself an imperishable fame, and triumphed over a man who disregarded every principle connected with the precedents of the Democratic party, and set himself up in defiance of his constituency as an enemy and disorganizer in the ranks, but who has received such a fitting rebuke at the hands of a free and independent people as will doubtless teach Mr. Jewett, and all others in the ranks of our party, that it is a dangerous experiment for a public servant to undertake to dictate to his lords and masters what course they shall pursue.

Our party owe a great debt of gratitude to J. Y. Brown for the arduous, spirited, and successful canvass he has just passed through, and will not be slow, I trust, in fully acknowledging that debt. And I, for one, think that the Fifth District should be awarded the title of Brown's Banner District of the State.

Last, but not least, has Col. John A. Prall won one of the most gallant victories ever contested in the State, and signally achieved over a man that the Opposition of Bourbon and Bath boasting declared "could not be defeated; for Mr. Brutus J. Clay was almost a millionaire, and would spend his money freely to the last." But the victory of Col. Prall has again proven the fact that there is more virtue in the principles of Democracy, and in the hearts of the honest people, than in Mr. Clay's money. And the Opposition have had no principle connected with the canvass in the entire State save that of beating the Democracy.

I am credibly informed that Joshua F. Bell said to his friends, but a few days before the election, that he would be badly beaten, for the party he was running for had no future after this canvass. Doubtless he now sees his error in allowing that party he "was running for" to place him in a position that must inevitably sacrifice him for all future; but as a matter of consolation to him, I would say that we have some defeated candidates in our city who have been slaughtered by the sacrificial hands of a vile clique who worked hard to keep their own places of power in this city, but now have no further use for Mr. Bell. Our candidates who were defeated here are patiently awaiting the arrival of Bell, that they may comfort him on his trip up Salt river.

The news from all parts of the State indicate that the "Augean stable" has been swept nearly clean, and the "Goths and Vandals" will now lie away to their dark holes and secret hiding places, to mourn over their ignominious defeat, and Prentice is now hard at work searching every dictionary in the land to see if there is any name left "given under Heaven or among men" that can be adopted under which to resurrect another new party; and if he fails to find one, he will doubtless apply to Judges Robertson and Nicholas, or to Judge Ballock, who has succeeded in getting down quite to the level of the people.

Yours, &c., J. M. H.

Rheumatism Cured.

To the readers of the Yeoman: Preserve this notice. If not afflicted yourself, you may suffer suffering humanity by sending it to some one who is.

Dr. Mortimore, by personal treatment, and the use of his remedy, by Physicians and Druggists, has cured probably twenty thousand cases of this painful and paralyzing disease—comprising cases of every seeming form, from those of a recent inflammatory (acute) character, to old chronic cases of ten, twenty, and even thirty years' standing.

This disease is becoming more prevalent every year, and is seldom cured, or even alleviated, by the usual course of treatment. In its active form it often proves fatal, or if not soon arrested, becomes chronic—stiffens the joints, contracts the ligaments, muscles, and tendons, and thus renders the sufferer a cripple for life, or, if ever afterwards cured, even by the use of this remedy, requires longer treatment and greater expense.

This is a vegetable internal remedy which cures the proprietor of it after long suffering, and all the usual remedies known had failed, and is safe to be used in any state of health—even by the most delicate female or child, and its success, in curing rheumatism, is attested by thousands, among whom are eminent physicians, ministers of various denominations, prominent journalists, and individuals of high standing throughout our country, such as should inspire confidence in every rational mind.

This evidence can be had on call at the office; or those at a distance, by addressing the proprietor, will receive, by mail, a circular of evidence. The remedy can be had at $5 per bottle, or five bottles for $20. The Disarmament of France.

The Monitor of yesterday contains the most welcome announcement that comes to English ears from a foreign land. The Emperor has issued his orders to disarm. With the least possible delay the army and navy of France are to be restored to their peace establishment. The people of England reading these glad tidings will take a deep breath, such as a man takes when a crisis of apprehension is past; they congratulate each other that the peril they dreaded has drifted away, and that they may turn back to peaceful pursuits, to the pleasant paths of human existence. It was not in panic fear, but in grave and sad disquietude, that we in this island regarded that heavy cloud, so charged with electricity, which loomed upon the near horizon. We felt that it must burst or disperse, and if it burst we had small choice in our conjectures, as to where only the bolt must fall. Frankly then, we acknowledge it in this salutary determination to dismember a daily proof of loyal adherence to the friendship which has united these two great nations, and gladly recognize in it a pledge of future peace to Europe. Undoubtedly the resolution has been taken, solely from consideration for the true interests of France. She has had her season of great glories, and the Emperor has gained his first crown of laurels. It is moderate and wise to stop while the appetite is keen, and the Emperor has wisely consulted the financial exigencies and the material advantage of his kingdom in staying the heavy expenditure of men and money, and in giving France, as we hope, a long repose from the unprofitable toil of war. We have said upon former occasions that for a war to be popular in France it must be short, and it must be successful. The war which has just closed, has fulfilled these conditions. We recognize in this disarmament the sagacity of the Emperor in gauging the temper of his people, and, for our own part, we rejoice that we may now return to security and peace. We shall, of course, in due time follow the example of our neighbor. We are, however, much behind him in the completeness of our peace establishment. There are many specks of rust yet to be rubbed away, and many invidious works yet to be repaired. But these are merely the ordinary matters of defense. Having no idea of aggression, and being too careless of remote possibilities, we have let many things run into disrepair. The careful householder paints and papers periodically, and we have been stimulated by recent events to survey our premises and make good dilapidations. Happily, there is now no further need that this should be done in haste. We have handed the consideration of these matters over to a Commission, which is about to decide what is the permanent defensive establishment which these islands require in time of peace, as the basis whence upon an emergency a full war establishment might be quickly built up. By the report of that Commission we shall be guided, and we congratulate ourselves and our readers that we may hereafter deal with these questions dispassionately as points of mere engineering or science, and without fear that the fortifications which England like all other powers, must necessarily keep up, are in danger of being at an early day tested by an enemy.

[From the London News of July 29.]

This diminution of immense armaments is spontaneously resolved on before the armistice is a month old, and while the peace exists only in its preliminaries. It is as the sign in earnest of a pacific disposition that the worth of an armistice ought to be estimated. It will be accepted here with candor, not indeed as a reason for foregoing the demand for those reforms in our belligerent services of which we have been made to feel the need so painfully, nor for acquiescing in a return to a state of costly inefficiency, but as a reason for dismissing the lessons of dark distrust, which have of late been inculcated as the perfection of political wisdom. Credulity may betray, but confidence is the life of civilization. We are aware that in some quarters this declaration of an intention to disarm will be received as certain evidence that the plot against England has become darker and deeper. The Apocalyptic interpreter would part with his life sooner than give up his "little horn," the prophets will not quietly be balked of their promised invasion; the psychologists will insist on the soundness of their prior theory of the character of Louis Napoleon; but men of the world will try and make the best of the age and of its chief actors, nor let excessive caution consume the narrow of their life.

Leopold's Abdication.

The telegraph brought us the intelligence yesterday that Leopold II, the Grand Duke of Tuscany, has abdicated in favor of his son. This is an event which suggests more favorable conclusions as to the future fortunes of the Grand Duke than any which has reached our knowledge since the famous interview of the two Emperors after the battle of Solferino. Had the path been so straight and so clear for the return of Leopold II. as had been suggested, we should not have heard anything of the substitution of the son for the father. Had the court of Vienna been inclined to meddle in the affairs of Central Italy as in former times, the idea of yielding so far to the popular voice would have been utterly abhorrent to its chief advisers. It is, therefore, reasonable for anyone who is not in the immediate confidence of the negotiators to say how far this abdication has been suggested either from Vienna or Paris; but the bare suggestion betrays either weakness or embarrassment. As far as the Tuscans are concerned, a man must be singularly ignorant of the internal concerns and recent history of the Grand Duchy who should suppose that the people were actuated by any violent feeling of antipathy to the late Grand Duke—or in such terms we presume we must speak of a sovereign who by his abdication has just completed an act of political suicide. Leopold II. was not personally unpopular. He was a weak and rather wishy-washy kind of man to promote the welfare of the peasantry and the rural population. There are officers in the government cannot pardon, even if it should be so inclined, and neither Leopold II. nor his son could ever be heartily reconciled to the persons who have borne a leading part in celebrating, rather than in procuring, their downfall. The dynasty of Leopold II. cannot be thrust back upon the Tuscans, save by force of arms. Whether this force will be exerted we cannot yet say, for at the present moment the conflict of Central Italy is the problem of Europe. The French Emperor will not, we are assured, employ his troops to escort back the fugitive Grand Duke or his son to Florence. Still less can he stand by and see Austrian regiments once more overrun Central Italy, and engage in reconstituting a reign of terror. Doubtless the least possible of the problem would be to leave these poor people to themselves, and we trust that this simple course will be taken.

THE DAY FIXED FOR THE SALE OF THE COVINGTON AND LEXINGTON ROAD.—We learn from the Cincinnati Enquirer that the sale of the Covington and Lexington Railroad, under the decree recently rendered by the Fayette County Circuit Court, will take place on the fifth day of October, at the court-house in Lexington. The decree, which will embody the terms and conditions of sale, has not yet been placed on file, but probably will be in the course of next week.

The earnings of the road for July last exceeded, by a little over $10,000, the receipts during the corresponding month of last year.

WE stated the other day that Mr. Meriwether was the only candidate for Speaker of the House of Representatives in this State. We learn that Dr. White, of Greensburg, the speaker of the last House, is also a candidate for the position, and that Mr. McElroy, of Union, will be urged by his friends for the place.—Lou. Dem.

The Goodwood Races.—The American Horse War.

Although the attendance of general company was yesterday comparatively meagre, the gathering to-day was still more scanty. The character of the competitors was not of an order to render their performances important, or to excite more than a transient interest among genuine racing men. Mr. Ten Broeck brought from America a stud of half-a-dozen horses. Prosser, his second year in England, after running in such a manner as to lead all people believe that she would not be able to win a saddle and bridle at Barmley Fair, carried off our principal handicap, and nearly repeated the achievement a second year in succession. Now we have to record the victory of another American importation. Starke, who until to-day had never shown racing ability worthy of consideration, but who comes and upsets the calculations of our shrewdest turf tacticians by winning a race which the owners of English horses have for months been planning and scheming to obtain. Mr. Ten Broeck made no secret of the confidence which he placed in his horse, and scarcely a man in the ring "missed laying," and that success, although attained by an "outsider," did not give the bookmakers a turn.

The racing which preceded and followed the stakes presented no incident for comment. The day was bright and sunny.

The horses got away on the first attempt, Woodburn, who was started to make running for Starke, going off with the lead, followed by Tocher, Melissa, Queen Bess, Heires, and Compromise, nearly in the order named, and pretty well laid up; Queenstown and Gouvioux whipping in. They passed the stand without any material alteration, but, nearing the turnout of Queenstown and Gouvioux, and in pursuit of him at clear intervals, were Tocher, Melissa, Ethiopian, and Heires; about six lengths behind them came Gaspard, with Blue Jacket, Ferndale, and Compromise at his heels—Queenstown and Gouvioux being still last. After rounding the clump Melissa drew into the third place, and the lot were in pretty close order soon after coming into sight of the principal stand. Queenstown and Gouvioux, who were now hopelessly beaten. As they ascended the hill, Melissa took up the running, followed by Tocher, Starke, and Heires; Lifeboat, who had been lying off in the rack, now joined the leading horses. After making the last turn, and in coming down the hill, Melissa's leg gave way, and she dropped into the rear, leaving Blue Jacket with the lead, Starke second, in close attendance upon him Lifeboat, Heires, and Gaspard next. At the distance Starke took up the running, and Lifeboat passed Blue Jacket at the inclosure, challenged "the American," but failed to get up, and was, after a fine race, beaten by half a length. Blue Jacket being six lengths from the second; Heires was fourth, beaten off; Compromise was fifth, and Gaspard sixth, close up with Heires. Heading the next lot, a pulling up, we caught up with the Gouvioux. The others did not pass the post. Melissa was dismounted before reaching the stand, and far behind her came Woodburn, trotting in.

The Charleston Convention.

We copied yesterday from the Maysville Express an article with the above caption, in which is suggested the propriety of appointing delegates to the National Convention by district, and in which the editor asks for the opinion of the press. After giving the subject that careful thought to which the accomplished editor of that very able paper is always entitled, we can see no sufficient reason for departing from the established usage of the Democratic party in Kentucky.

That usage has been to appoint the delegates to the National Convention at the State Convention; but the delegates from each Congressional district are entrusted with the selection and recommendation to the State Convention of suitable persons to be appointed as delegates, and alternates for such district; and thus practically each district selects its own representatives to the National Convention.

The State Convention must assemble to appoint the delegates for the State at large, and whilst there can be no objection to the delegates to us, with less trouble than it would require to give up separate district conventions in addition to that for the State at large.

We hope there will be a full convention at Frankfort on the 8th of January next; and to secure that object, let every county in the State go to work at once, and appoint their delegates—appoint their best men, and men that will certainly attend. In this way we will guard against the possibility of the confusion or misunderstanding that might arise from the departure from established usage, and, at the same time, the separate action of the several districts in the selection of their respective delegates to the National Convention can be as effectually secured, and with more convenience than in the mode suggested by the Express.

We cannot too strongly urge upon the remote counties the importance of being fully represented at the Frankfort Convention, and thus securing their proper influence in the deliberations of that body.—Lou. Courier.

WE noticed a report on Sunday morning last that there was an error in the poll-books of Cumberland county, which, corrected, gives Anderson's majority ten less than it has been counted. We learn from a reliable source, from one who has examined the books, that the error exists, and that the correction makes a difference of thirteen in favor of Chrisman. There is, we presume, no doubt of the error; so that Chrisman is in fact elected to Congress.

The question is, how will the error be corrected; or will the examiners at Frankfort give the certificate to Anderson, knowing the error to exist, inasmuch as they have done so in one instance before, if we recollect right. At any rate, Congress will correct it, if there be a contest at all. It will hardly be contended that a candidate will be defeated by an error in counting up the votes cast for him.—Lou. Dem.

What Next?

It is said in the good book that "there is a time for all things." This applies as well to political affairs as to everything else. Last Spring we expressed the opinion that it would be better then to attend to our State elections, than to get into an unprofitable and unnecessary strife about who was or should be candidate for President, and so suggested to several of our brethren of the press, who seemed to have forgotten all about the State election, in their anxiety to keep before the public the name of their favorite for the Presidency. Now the State election is over, and the State is ours—Governor, State Ticket, Legislature and all; and in this region the Democracy have carried everything before them and made gains not only of a member and Senator, but also upon the general result over and above Revill's vote. For all of which we are sincerely thankful.

The next thing to be done, and we must dispose of these matters as they come up, is the selection of a man to take the place of Mr. Crittenden as U. S. Senator when his term shall expire.

In considering this matter, every Democrat should lay aside all local and personal prejudices, and endeavor as far as practicable to be controlled alone by what the interest of the country demands.

We want a Democrat, a man of ability, influence, energy, and integrity—one who will command the respect of the nation—a fit successor of Clay, and a suitable colleague for our distinguished fellow citizen, Gov. Powell.

Without meaning in the slightest degree to ignore or disparage the merits or pretensions of other distinguished Democrats of whom Kentucky can boast, any one of whom would fill the position with honor and credit, it seems to us that the interest of the State and the country would be best served by the selection of John C. Breckinridge.

His name and his reputation are national. His ability as a statesman and his influence in the councils of the nation are conceded by all. His devotion and fidelity to the Democratic party have been proved by ordeals to which few men have been subjected. And none, it seems to us, can question his fitness for the place.

Other considerations might be suggested in favor of selecting Mr. Breckinridge as the successor of Mr. Crittenden, if it were deemed necessary.

South Kentucky already has a Senator, and the Democracy, unlike their opponents, have always favored an equitable distribution of the offices throughout the State. Such was the feeling that actuated the Convention last winter, and hence the distribution of state office as nearly equal as was practicable.

The same principle would seem to suggest a Senator from north or middle Kentucky.

Again, the Democracy have, in bestowing honors, always considered the character of service rendered by those on whom they are bestowed.

Men who have always been anxious for office, and ready for position, where it could be attained without hazard or sacrifice; who have ever been willing to encounter our foes whether victory was sure, and danger afar off; and as unwilling to go into battle when the odds were against us, have never been viewed with the same favor as those who, regardless of danger, hazard or sacrifice, have always been on hand whenever their services were demanded.

This has been often shown in the last ten years in Kentucky, and in no case was this feeling more strikingly manifested than in the case of John C. Breckinridge, who, when selected for the State office, who ever it could, the fallen of 1855. This recollection of past services—of fidelity in times of adversity—is a characteristic of the Democracy of which every Democrat is, and should be, proud, and ought to be encouraged and fostered. How does Maj. Breckinridge stand with the Democracy of Kentucky in regard to past services? He has been no shining friend of the Democracy; he has never been beaten, it is true, but his victories have always been over the enemy and never over his friends. All of his trophies have been won from our opponents—they have been gathered in the strongholds of the Opposition, and when every one, but him, thought the chances were hopeless.

He was elected in 1849 to the Legislature in Fayette where the Whigs had an overwhelming majority against him! So in 1851, when he was just elected to Congress, over Gen. Combs, the nominee of the Whig party. He alone had the courage to storm the Ashland district, and won it to the dismay of his opponents and the delight of the Democracy—thus aiding, materially, the election of our own Powell over Dixon.

So in 1853 he held his ground against the Whig party and defeated Gov. Lett, notwithstanding the influence of the party, throughout the Union, was brought to bear against him. These victories were considered as national; they resulted to the benefit of the Democracy throughout the Union, and were so regarded at the time.

All the chances were against him, and nothing but his indomitable courage and his unswerving faith in the principles of the Democratic party, and determination to maintain them, at all hazards, could have enabled him to succeed. That his devotion to Democracy has been disinterested, is manifest from his declining to accept office of profit and honor from Gen. Pierce when it was tendered him; his willingness, indeed his anxiety, to canvass Kentucky as State elector in 1856, and his reluctance to accept the position he now occupies, though tendered by the Democracy of the nation, preferring, as he then declared, another of Kentucky's sons for the place.

Maj. Breckinridge has, in his brilliant career, shown less desire for self promotion, and more devotion and zeal in behalf of the success of Democracy, than any man we know of.

His gallantry has been only equalled by his discretion, and his devotion to the party. Was Powell and Breckinridge in the Senate, Kentucky will stand in the Union where she stood when she was represented by Clay, Rowan, Bibb, Talbot, and a host of other worthies, now no more.

They will be fit associates and will work well with our talented representatives, Burnett, Peyton, Brown, Stevenson, &c., &c.; and we hope the Democracy of the State, next winter, agree with us in saying, that Kentucky needs, and will demand the services of John C. Breckinridge in the Senate Chamber of the United States.

Later from Europe.

NEW YORK, August 15.—The steamship City of Baltimore, from Liverpool on the 31st inst., and Queenstown, from Liverpool on the 31st inst., at 6 o'clock this evening, too late for dispatching her mails and newspaper packages to the South. A brief summary of her adventures has been published, having been obtained off Cape Race by the news yacht of the New York Associated Press.

The following telegraphic dispatch, which was received at Queenstown on the morning after her departure, furnishes additional details of her adventures, and the manner in which she was rescued.

LONDON, August 4.—Telegrams from Paris say that the French Adriatic squadron had returned to Toulon. Troops from Italy were continually arriving at Marseilles. The funeral rite over the French and Sardinian soldiers who fell in the cause of Italy, were performed at Turin on the 3d.

A dispatch from Bologna says that the Sardinian Ministers had announced the recall of the Marquis D'Azeglio by proclamation, which also recommends the people to remain tranquil, and promises, in the name of Victor Emmanuel, to endeavor to obtain the concurrence of the European Governments for accomplishing their just and reasonable wishes. The Ministers had convoked the National Assembly.

The Duke of Gramot, the French ambassador to Rome, arrived at Paris on Wednesday.

The threatened strike in the building trade at London was becoming serious. A meeting of several thousand workmen was held at Hyde Park, and speeches were made of an uncompromising character.

Harrison County Vote.

Among the other wholly groundless charges of the Opposition, it has been asserted that large gangs of Irish laborers were conveyed by the Kentucky Central Railroad to Colemanville precinct, Harrison county, and that they voted there for Capt. Simms. To this, and like cases, is attributed the defeat of Mr. Harlan. When investigated this allegation falls to the ground, and becomes a mere illustration of the unscrupulous efforts of the Opposition to impugn the integrity of the Democratic vote in this district. The following certificate is conclusive in proof of the falseness of the charge.

Harrison County, ss.—I, Perry Whorritt, Clerk of said County Court, certify that at the election held at the Colemanville Precinct, in said county, in August, 1857—

James B. Clay received.....183
Roger W. Hanson received.....148
Total vote.....331

At the August election, 1859—

William E. Simms received.....198
John M. Harlan received.....163
Total.....366

Attest: T. Whorritt, Clerk.

The total increase in the vote of this precinct is thirty-five, and of these Mr. Harlan received twenty. The Democratic candidate lost five in majority at this point to which it is charged whole gangs of illegal voters were imported. But this is not all. The gravel train of the Kentucky Central Railroad, on which these Irish are said to have been conveyed, has upon it twenty seven working men. Of these twenty-seven but four voted, and they had been residents of Colemanville precinct for from fifteen months to two years. Thus do the flimsy pretexts of the Opposition fall before the first examination of the facts.

The Democracy of Harrison challenge and defy the most rigid scrutiny of the poll-books of that county. Our friends there stand ready to defend the legality of every Democratic voter upon the record. And more. A wager of one hundred dollars is offered through the Cynthia Age of the 12th, that an investigation of the poll-books will show that Harlan (Opp.) received more illegal votes than did his successful competitor. The proposition has not been taken.

As honorable men the Opposition leaders are bound either to justify imputations upon the vote of Harrison or withdraw the slander. They have no right to disseminate their false charges, and when defied to the proof refuse to sustain themselves. They have cried fraud, and are denounced as calumniators, slanderers, and falsifiers. They must rest under that denunciation so long as these charges are either unwarranted or unsustained. They allege importation. If true, the fact is easily shown. Let them do it or stand dishonored as false accusers. With all fair men the vote of Harrison can not be successfully assailed by mere newspaper assertion. The Democracy rest upon it and dare their slanderers to the trial.

A Miserable Farce.

Never did a candidate for honorable office submit to defeat with less grace than does the late position nominee for Congress in this district. As whining complaints, and puerile murmurs, is the press gives true expression to his feelings, are wholly unbecoming the dignity of the position he lately occupied. With a fair majority of sixty-seven against him, he yet wanders over the district in the vain hope of reversing the verdict of public sentiment and through his pet journals, piteously begs his friends to furnish him grounds upon which he can stand before a Black Republican House and ask at the hands of Abolitionists an annulment of the will of this people. After the perpetration by his own party, and in his own behalf, of the most revolting atrocities and infamous frauds which ever disgraced an election day, he comes unblushingly to the bar of public opinion, and in suppliant tones complains of fraud. Was ever a spectacle presented to this people in which so much coquetry and puerile weakness combined to disgust all who contemplate it? Think of it! The candidate of the Know-Nothing and Opposition faction—a party whose whole career has been marked by every fraud and outrage which could violate the sanctity of the ballot box, and whose history is traced in violence and blood—moves about the district under the pretext of discovery of outrage upon the elective franchise. A more miserable, pitiful, ridiculous farce was never enacted before an intelligent people. He owes it to himself and to the men who supported him, to contest and purge the books, say his party papers. Then why in the name of consistency don't he contest? Fraud has been cried and howled and whined in this district for ten years by defeated candidates. Let us for once have an investigation. Let the public understand why fifty Democratic voters were excluded in Fayette county. Let it be ascertained if intimidation and mobocracy prevailed at Frankfort. Let it be understood how many legal voters failed to vote at the seat of government, and why they did not go to the polls. Let the whole district be advised of the decision of judges of election in Bourbon county, and of the violence and bloodshed between the rights of the native and naturalized voters. Let the whole subject be opened up, and the fullest scrutiny instituted. Contest! We defy, and dare a contest of the seat of Captain Simms. But none will be had.

Had every legal voter in the district been allowed suffrage; had not intimidation nor violence been employed in localities where the vote position had the ascendency of brute force, and had no illegal votes been cast, the majority of Capt. Simms would have reached 250. And this fact is well known to the Opposition. Nothing is farther from their purposes than to lift the veil from the last canvass and expose to the public view their own frauds and corrupt practices. This clamor is all idle talk, mere rant and fuss, without reason or purpose. The Democracy smile in contempt at their unblushing impudence and miserable hypocrisy. Their folly is ridiculous, their expectations absurd. Let them writhe and squirm, and die without sympathy.—Lex. Statesman.

THE CORN, WHEAT, AND TOBACCO CROPS.—The corn, to a very great extent, is past resuscitation, even if it should rain from now till the 1st of September. There is not one first-rate full crop of corn in Kentucky, and in fact in all the corn country. Various farmers of that county, as well as others of Spotsylvania, assured us on Monday that they feared they would not make enough for home consumption. Many will not make one fourth of a crop.

The reports of yields of wheat are also lamentable. In many cases cited to us the falling off between the estimate and the realization was fifty per cent.

Tobacco also is in a precarious condition. The tobacco in Carolina that we have ever seen is in a season of the year. We are not advised at this a condition of this crop generally in the as to thing counties, but there must be some surround we understand that a Stafford planter goes back as a cut his tobacco crop, which is experts suppose than was ever known in the earlier we country. Much of it in Carolina looks section of it had only been "set out" quite recently, as though a few small size.

FREDERICKSBURG (Va.) Herald.

AN EDITOR SHOT BY A CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS. We learn by a private letter from Canton that on Wednesday last, Hon. Franklin Smith, the independent Democratic candidate for Congress in this district, shot Owen Van Vactor, Esq., editor of the Commonwealth, on the streets of that town. A controversy arose between them about an article in the last number of the Commonwealth, relative to the discussion between Smith and Singleton, at Raymond, on the 1st inst. The wound of Mr. Van Vactor is severe, though not necessarily fatal.—Vicksburg (Miss.) Whig.

AMONG the marriages reported by the last English papers, is the following:

On the 20th inst., at Trinity Church, Marylebone, by the Rev. Gordon Deedes, vicar of St. Andrew's, the Hon. Charles Deedes, Esq., to Mary Bell, youngest daughter of the late Robert Alexander, Esq., of Kentucky, United States, and sister of R. C. Atchison Alexander, Esq., of Andrie County, N. B.

A Specific for Hooping-Cough.
It is known by a few individuals in the counties of Jefferson, Shelby, and Oldham, that I have a remedy that effectually cures Hooping-Cough. If there are remedies in America or Europe that cures it, it is not within my knowledge, except the one I use.
Physicians tell the families they attend it can't be cured. I have found that they are candid in what they state. To get this cure, the patient is invited to get a deep-rooted prejudice, the faculty are invited to get the medicine, and save the little innocents whom they attend, and tell them no more it cannot be cured.
One dollar will pay for two bottles, which is a sufficient for any child. This medicine can be conveyed to any part of the United States by express for a mere trifle, and such take orders from the most famous and famous, south side, 409, Louisville, Ky.

THE VESPER GAS OR AIR LIGHT,
The Cheapest, most Brilliant, and most Convenient Artificial Light in the World!

THE Vesper Gas Light has won for itself a reputation for elegance, economy, safety, and simplicity far beyond any other artificial light. The Vesper Gas flame and fixtures precisely resemble in form those of the gas, but in brilliancy and purity of light, it possesses a decided advantage over any other artificial light. It requires no chimney; there is no need of daily trimming of the wicks, and the construction of the fixture is so simple that it is not able to get out of order, and a child can manage it readily. The gas burned in the Vesper fixtures is generated from pure coal oil, without any admixture of alcohol or other foreign ingredient. It is entirely free from odor while burning, as by a simple contrivance, the vapor of the oil is mixed with the atmosphere, there, producing perfect combustion, and a most intense light. The light has been pronounced by those who have had it in constant use for months, as most pleasant to the eye while reading or sewing, there being no flicker or unsteadiness in the flame. The Vesper Gas Light is portable, and can be used in town or country; and, wherever artificial light is required, the fixtures themselves are adapted in styles to suit all tastes, from the plain single-light burner to the most costly chandelier. Each fixture is made for service pipes. The gas is generated in the burner, and all fixtures, from the cheap single-light burner to the most costly chandelier, are made for service pipes.

A Specific for Hooping-Cough.
It is known by a few individuals in the counties of Jefferson, Shelby, and Oldham, that I have a remedy
that effectually cures Hooping-Cough. If there are remedies in America or Europe that cures it, it is not within my knowledge, except the one I use.
Physicians tell the families they attend it can't be cured. I have found that they are candid in what they state. To get this cure, the patient is invited to get a deep-rooted prejudice, the faculty are invited to get the medicine, and save the little innocents whom they attend, and tell them no more it cannot be cured.
One dollar will pay for two bottles, which is a sufficient for any child. This medicine can be conveyed to any part of the United States by express
for a mere trifle, and such take orders from the most
